

Jujutsu Kaisen: Special Grade Sorcerer Profile

Personal Overview

Name: Mamoru Takamura

Grade: Special Grade Sorcerer

Affiliation: Tokyo Jujutsu High (Independent Consultant / Problem Child)

Overview: Mamoru Takamura is a towering, physically imposing powerhouse whose rowdy, arrogant, and blatantly vulgar demeanor belies a terrifyingly profound mastery of spatial mathematics and information theory. Unlike other Special Grades who dominate through raw destructive output, Takamura is an absolute psychological and tactical bully. He stands completely unprotected in front of the most lethal curses, goading them into attacking, only to watch them physically and structurally dismantle themselves against his innate technique.

Innate Technique & Mechanics

Innate Technique: Shannon Entropy (シャノンエントロピー)

Takamura's technique allows him to manipulate the predictability, probability distributions, and information density of the local environment. In jujutsu terms, he controls the "Element of Surprise" as a literal physical metric. When an opponent launches an attack, they do so with a specific intent, vector, and expected outcome (low entropy/high certainty). Takamura can instantly inject maximum thermodynamic and informational disorder into that space.

The "Blank Air" Filter

When an attack enters Takamura's personal space, his technique degrades the efficiency of the incoming force to zero. The opponent's physical strike or cursed energy blast hits entirely "blank air," missing him by millimeters without him ever appearing to move. The "surprise" is psychological whiplash: the absolute certainty of a successful hit instantly collapses into a zero-percent reality.

The Momentum Penalty & Convex Backlash

This is where Takamura's "bully" nature shines. Missing Takamura isn't free. Because opponents strike with maximum cursed energy to break through his reputation, swinging into "blank air" triggers a severe kinetic momentum backlash. The overextended energy and momentum snap violently back into the attacker's own body. The harder an opponent tries to hit him, the more catastrophic their internal structural injuries and resource drainage become.

Concave Damage Ingestion ("Lumps")

Evasion is rarely 100% perfect against chaotic battlefields. If an opponent manages a sub-maximal, imperfect slip that grazes Takamura, his technique ensures the damage scales concavely—meaning it flattens out into minor, easily manageable "lumps." Takamura shrugs these off with a low-overhead, reflexive flash of Reverse Cursed Technique, mocking the opponent for hitting like a child.

Domain Expansion: Forced Equilibrium Convergence

Domain Appearance: The domain manifests as a massive, blindingly white, hyper-geometric boxing ring suspended in an infinite void of shifting static and binary static noise, representing pure informational chaos.

Sure-Hit & Environmental Rules

Inside this Domain, the environment continuously tracks the systemic escalation state of the fight. The Domain imposes an absolute mathematical law over all trapped entities:

- The Defection Penalty: Any aggressive effort, intent to harm, or deployment of offensive cursed energy (Defection) automatically drains the user's cursed energy pool at an exponential, quadratic rate.
- Forced Evasion: Takamura becomes entirely unstriking and unhittable, utilizing a mocking, fluid defensive posture. Every missed swing inside the Domain accelerates the opponent toward absolute resource bankruptcy.
- The Cooperation Endpoint: The only way to stop the violent, self-inflicted drainage of cursed energy is for the opponent to completely drop their fighting stance, suppress their killing intent, and mirror Takamura's non-aggressive posture (Cooperation). The Domain literally starves out the opponent's free will, forcing them into submission and strategic alignment just to survive.

Combat Profile & Stats

Attribute	Rating	Tactical Application
Physical Strength	9/10	Takamura possesses monstrous natural athleticism. He rarely needs cursed energy reinforcement to overpower opponents physically once they are exhausted.

Attribute	Rating	Tactical Application
Tactical Intellect	10/10	Hidden behind his loud mouth is a genius-level understanding of probability, game theory, and psychological warfare. He maps out an opponent's resource bankruptcy turns in advance.
Cursed Energy Efficiency	10/10	Because his strategy relies entirely on fluid evasion and letting the opponent burn their own reserves, Takamura's operational overhead is virtually zero, giving him endless stamina.
Psychological Oppression	10/10	He breaks an opponent's spirit by standing completely open, insulting their strength, and letting them break their own bones trying to hit him.